* In-person classes with non-standard meeting patterns Monday through Thursday, will hold final exams during their regularly-scheduled meeting pattern unless the instructor is informed otherwise by the Office of the Registrar.

* Instructors teaching in-person classes with the above standard meeting times, are expected to administer final examinations at the designated date and time unless explicitly approved to do to otherwise by their academic dean. Doing otherwise may cause a conflict in exam times for students.

* Students who have as many as three final examinations scheduled on one day may appeal to their academic dean to reschedule one of those examinations on another day during the final examination period.
